

For Freedom Christ Has Set Us Free
Traits of a Spirit-Led Community
Galatians 6:1-10

While society may seem to be taking steps to redefine family, we know that ultimately family is the fabric of society. Regardless of how family is defined, family members must fulfill their roles and interact with each other in certain ways for the family to remain healthy and functional.

1. We practice _____
2. We practice _____
3. We practice _____
4. We practice _____
5. We practice _____

Life in the Spirit, individually and corporately, reflects each of these traits. These were qualities embodied in Jesus, and as we allow ourselves to be conformed to His image, these are the characteristics that will be evident in our lives. Jesus gives us the example, and He gives us the Spirit to live out each and every trait of a Spirit-led life in the context of a Spirit-led community.
