

More than Buildings
The Spirituality of Giving
1 Chronicles 29:10-15

We live in a culture that lives beyond its means. What we see happening in our government and our economy is a macrocosm of what is happening in our individual families and finances. Our society reflects attitudes of individualism, consumerism, and entitlement.

Treasure Principle

You can't _____ it with you, but you can _____ it on ahead.

Key #1: God _____ everything, I am His money _____.

Key #2: My _____ always goes where I put my _____.

Hebrews 11:6 tells us that without faith it is impossible to please God. Therefore, a life of God-pleasing stewardship begins with faith. We exercise faith in our willingness to make small adjustments that are aligned with God's will without fully understanding the outcomes of those adjustments. What can you do today to begin living on less of God's stuff so that more can be invested in the Great Commandment and Great Commission?
